FORMER STATE EMPLOYE DIES; WAS IN CHURCH

George Alfred Raffensperger, 75, of New Chester, retired farmer and former employee of the state Bureau of Animal Husbandry, died suddenly at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday evening at St. John's Reformed Church, New Chester, where he had gone to attend a "sample show" in the church.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams County coroner, attributed death to a coronary occlusion.

Mr. Raffensperger was born in Adams County, a son of the late George and Kathryn Jacobs Raffensperger. He and his wife, Mrs. Minnie Potter Raffensperger, observed their golden wedding anniversary in January. Mr. Raffensperger retired in 1930 following a serious injury. The deceased was a member of the Gettysburg camp of the Sons of Union Veterans.

Funeral On Saturday
Besides his wife, he leaves two sons, Donald P., Camp Hill and Harold E., New Chester; two daughters, Mrs. Edgar Getz, Drum, Pa., and Mrs. Eva M. Snyder, New Chester; nine grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Funeral services Saturday at 10 a.m. at St. John's Reformed Church, New Chester, with the Rev. W. A. Keeney, Gettysburg, and the Rev. Alton M. Leister, East Berlin, his pastor, officiating. Interment in the church cemetery. The body will lie in state in the church from 9 a.m. Saturday until the time of the funeral.

OPEN BIDS FOR RADIO SYSTEM

Adams County's two-way radio communications system, linking the fire companies for civil defense and fire duty, will cost somewhere between $12,000 and $15,000, it was learned this morning when the county commissioners opened bids for the equipment.

Four companies, General Electric, Radio Corporation of America, Link and Motorola submitted bids ranging from $12,845 to $14,875. The commissioners postponed until September 3 at 11 a.m. final decision on the bids.

The reason for the delay was contained in various alternate bids submitted, the fact that some bids were on equipment installed and others on "equipment ready to install" and similar variations.

The communications system calls for the placing of two-way radios in various pieces of fire equipment throughout the county with a central radio station here and connecting with the fire trucks, which will also be able to communicate among themselves without going through the central station.

The commissioners accepted the resignation of Paul L. Chronister as assessor in Reading Twp. and approved county aid of $284.04 to York Springs for roadwork.

Herr was given an individual trophy.

The golf committee is planning a "Double Calcutta" for first and second flight players. Fifty-eight entered.

COLLEGE WILL USE WHITE HOUSE FOR CHAPLAIN

Gettysburg College's "White House," which was the home of former President Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson and Mrs. Hanson and family for 29 years, will be the residence of the college chaplain, according to action taken by the executive and finance committees of the board at a recent meeting in the office of Dr. Walter C. Langsam, who succeeded Dr. Hanson as president.

The new chaplain, Rev. Edwirth Korte, will move to Gettysburg with his family on or about October 1. He has been the Lutheran student pastor at Penn State College.

New business offices of the college have been set up in the former Sigma Chi Lodge and later the residence of Rev. Robert B. Rau which is opposite the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity house on the campus. Richard C. Debus, new business manager of the college, and his secretary, Mrs. Robert Krick, have their offices there. The balance of the building will be used as supply and storage rooms for the college.

Two Pension Plans
The college will make available to faculty members the opportunity to participate in one of two pension plans. Formerly the Gettysburg College Retirement Plan was the only pension plan available. Now, faculty members will be able to choose the former plan or the Teachers Insurance and Annuity Association Plan. The latter is used by nearly 700 colleges and universities.

Instead of providing the college president with a car allowance, the board decided to purchase a car, a Packard, for the president.

Trustee members who were present for the all-day session were: Judge Hiram S. Keller, Doylestown, who presided; C. A. Willis, Fairfield; John S. Rice, Gettysburg; William Patrick, Philadelphia; Richard Wetzel, Reading; Edward Furst, Swarthmore; Charles B. McCollough, Deltroit; Dr. Amos E. Taylor, Washington; Emerson Gentzler, New York City, and John Apple, Sunbury. Dr. Langsam was present in an ex-officio capacity.

WILL DECORATE TOWN FOR XMAS

Members of the Retail Merchants Association voted Tuesday night, at a meeting in the Court House, to decorate the business streets again this year for the Christmas season, but abandoned plans for another Christmas parade. The association sponsored its first Christmas parade last year.

Colored lights and decorations will be used in Lincoln Square and in the first block of the intersecting streets, it was decided. "The Christmas decorations this year will be different, and more elaborate," President Charles B. Bender, who presided at the meeting, said.

Retail merchants who attended the meeting gave glowing reports of business conducted on the two recent Gettysburg Sales Days, and said business was better than on any similar sales event ever held here.

He was a widower, his wife, the former Abbie Mowery, having passed away on August 1, 1942.

Mr. Waltman is survived by a son, J. Leroy Waltman, 115 Carlisle St., New Oxford; a daughter, Mrs. Myra P. Johnson, at home; two grandchildren and two great-grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Mary Clapsaddle, Baltimore, and a brother, John A. Waltman, Hanover.

Mr. Waltman was a former employee of the State Highway Department. He retired two years ago. He was also associated with the Abbotstown Water Co. and the Abbotstown State Bank.

Firemen Will Conduct Fire Drill At Creek On Thursday

Cottages at Marsh Creek Heights will be given a demonstration Thursday night to show the protection available to them from the Gettysburg Fire Department, and how a fire could be fought if one should break out in that summer colony.

The demonstration will be held by the department as one of its regular Thursday night fire drills. Chief Donald G. Jacobs said. Arrangements were made through Joseph E. Codori, Dr. Walter S. Mountain and others whose summer homes are located in this section adjacent to the dam.

The department's No. 1 GMC pumper will be stationed on the north side of the creek, Jacobs said. Two inch-and-a-half hose lines will be ferried across the creek in boats, and throw water on the south side, where most of the cottages are located.

Use Portable Pump

The Mack pumper will be located on the south side of the creek. Because of the formation of the bank on this side, it is impossible to drive a truck to the water's edge to draft water from the creek, according to Jacobs, and the portable pump from the service truck will be connected to an intake on the Mack.

Both of the two booster lines from the Mack, and an inch-and-a-half stream of water supplied by the portable pump, will be used. There will be five streams of water in all.

All members of the fire department are requested to report at the engine house ready to leave for Marsh Creek Heights at 6:30 p.m.

STATE OKAYS SCHOOL SITE

Official approval by the State Department of Education of the site for a proposed new elementary school in Gettysburg, west of Highland Park and south of the Recreation Park, was received Tuesday afternoon by Paul M. Rohrbaugh, secretary of the Gettysburg Joint School board of directors. The approval was signed by R. W. Robinson, chief of the division of consolidation and transportation, Harrisburg.

Future steps before work can be started on a new building, following purchase of the land, which the joint board recently voted to condemn, includes projecting the pupil enrollment in the jointure six years hence; setting up of a room schedule; obtaining architect's figures and probable costs; arriving at the total cost of land, building and all equipment; estimating rental and setting up budgets breaking down the rental among the six districts participating in the elementary school program.

BAND CONCERT FRIDAY NIGHT

The Blue and Gray Band of Gettysburg will present a concert on the lawn of the Veterans of Foreign Wars post home, Carlisle St., Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

The concert was originally scheduled for Thursday evening, but due to the appearance of the 31st Infantry Division Band Thursday the concert by the local band was postponed until Friday.

By reason of striving to pay for their recently-acquired "blue-gray" uniforms, the band has not appeared as frequently this summer for local concerts. Rather, according to Band President Grace Myers, the musical organization and the Gettysburg Fire Company have teamed up on numerous parade engagements to win prize money.

The band's portion of the prize money won in these parade engagements has been applied to payment of the uniforms.

Miss Myers also stated that the band hopes to present several more "music-under-the-stars" concerts before autumn.

Members of the band were urged to be present in uniform in time to begin promptly at 8 o'clock Friday night.

BEGIN CASTING THURSDAY FOR "LINCOLN VISIT"

Gettysburgians and Adams Countyites will have an opportunity to play the parts of their own ancestors in the forthcoming presentation of "Mr. Lincoln Goes to Gettysburg," which will be given here next month or during Pennsylvania Week in October by the Western Maryland Railway as the climax in its year-long observance of its 100th anniversary.

The re-enactment of Lincoln's visit to Gettysburg in November, 1863, and his Gettysburg Address, will be directed by Mrs. Adele Gutman Nathan, New York City. Mrs. Edwin J. Killalea, chairman of casting announced today that there will be a meeting of those who would like to take part Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Court House.

More Than 175 Needed

The script calls for the arrival of the Lincoln party on an old train of the type used in Civil War days, at the Carlisle Street station, where he will be greeted by Gettysburg residents.

Mrs. Killalea said at least 100 women, 75 men and several children will be needed for the "crowd scenes" at the station, the Willis House and in the National Cemetery, where they will form front row spectators. All will be in costume, supplied by the Western Maryland.

AUTHOR WRITING BOOK ON POLICE

Col. S. P. Meek, Del Ray Beach, Fla., writer of juvenile stories, is in Gettysburg gathering material for a new book which will feature the work of a police dog trained at the school for state policemen in Hershey.

Col. Meek arrived Sunday night and this week is working with the men of the Gettysburg substation. He came here from Hershey and troop headquarters in Harrisburg, and will go next to New Bloomfield.

He will cover, he said, every phase of state police work as background material for the new book for junior high school readers, to be published in the fall of 1953.

Wife Here Too

Associated with him as co-author is his wife, Edna Noble-Meek, an author in her own right, and well-known writer of books on food and cookery.

Col. Meek is the author of 21 published books for juveniles, with dogs and horses as the heroes, published by Alfred A. Knopf, New York City. He is listed in Who's Who in America.

His next book, entitled "Rip, A Game Protector," will be published in October. It embodies Col. Meek's experiences with New York State game protectors.

Dr. Keefe said two rooms have been added at Lincoln School by partitioning the old assembly room, for fifth grade classrooms.

Pupil assignments for the fall term, which opens next Thursday, were also announced today, as follows:

Grades 1 to 4 inclusive, pupils residing east of Carlisle St. and east of S. Washington St. and along Steinwehr Ave. will attend High St. School; pupils residing on Carlisle and Baltimore Sts. and all streets west of Carlisle and Baltimore Sts. and on Chambersburg St. will attend Meade School.

MORE GENERAL PARTICIPATION IN FAIR ASKED

Chairmen of the various departments of the South Mountain Fair today issued a special plea to countyans to enter displays at the annual fair beginning Tuesday at Arentsville.

Heads of 15 departments joined in pointing out that while the fair has always been noted for the large number of exhibits by individuals, "it can be made into an even better and more representative display if more people bring in displays."

While not stressing the monetary awards that can be secured by those entered, the chairmen pointed out that a number of people received from $10 to $30 last year in prizes awarded for their cooking, needlework, art, photographic and other displays.

Appeals For Farm Crops

Clarence Waybright, Farm Crops Department chairman, was one of the group making a special plea. He urged farmers to gather their top corn, wheat, barley, oats, timothy seed and hay for exhibition in the Farm Crops Division. Pointing out that this is primarily a farming county and that practically every farm produces some corn and other grains and hay, Waybright urged that the number of exhibitors in that division be vastly increased "in keeping with the importance of such farm crops in the county's economy."

The street has been re-surfaced with blacktop for its entire width of 31 feet, from curb to curb, he said. The re-surfacing of the Emmitsburg Rd., begun in 1951, has also been completed to the Maryland line, Kendeheart said.

Highway employees are now painting crosswalk lines on state highways in front of schoolhouses, and have also started grading on the Brysonia-Bendersville Rd. in Menallen Twp.

Mr. Kendeheart said he expected to start grading and re-surfacing of Carlisle St., from Broadway north, some time this fall.

ASK FURNITURE FOR DAY ROOM AT ARMY DEPOT

The Adams County Chapter, American Red Cross, has received a request from George Gutmann, Red Cross field director at New Cumberland, for furnishings for a day room. As a part of the rehabilitation program, the military authorities have planned this day room for some of the disciplinary barracks inmates, who "by their good records have been placed in an honor group."

The new day room for these men will be large and comfortable sturdy furniture will be needed, such as: writing tables, coffee tables, table and floor lamps, radios, straight and over-stuffed chairs, davenport, mirrors, magazine racks and book cases. The military will provide trucks to pick up the furnishings some time around September 1.

Ask Help Here

Adams countyans having such items of furniture in sturdy condition are asked to call Mrs. Lucille Bucklew at the local Red Cross office.

During the past year members of the Junior Red Cross, churches, clubs and camp and hospital council volunteers contributed gifts of cookies, favors, decorations, playing cards, cigarettes, magazines, books and afghans to New Cumberland and Indianopolis Gap.

Mrs. Herbert V. Jordan, vice chairman of the South Central Pennsylvania Camp and Hospital Council, and Mrs. Frank Kramer, chairman of the Camp and Hospital Council volunteer group in this section, declared that this request from the military is deserving of cooperation.

CONCERT HERE ON THURSDAY

The 31st Infantry (Dixie) Division will present its 102-piece military band in a concert in Lincoln Square Thursday afternoon, from 4:30 to 5:30 o'clock.

The band is coming to Gettysburg from New York City, where it led the Alabama delegation in the parade of the national convention of the American Legion.

The unit has participated in numerous concert tours and parades, and has become familiar to television audiences. It was featured at the running of the Kentucky Derby last May, when it played the traditional "My Old Kentucky Home."

The appearance in Gettysburg Thursday afternoon will be the highlight of the band's return to Camp Atterbury. Through special permission of the Department of the Army, the bandmen wear Confederate gray uniforms.

Police Will Enforce School Bus Stop Law

Sgt. Joseph E. Temple, officer in charge of the Gettysburg substation of the Pennsylvania State Police, said today that beginning with the re-opening of schools throughout Adams County next Thursday, September 4, state police will begin a strict enforcement of the school bus stop sign law.

J. William Kendeheart, county highway superintendent, said most of the new stop signs have been erected.

Sgt. Temple said the law requires that all vehicles come to a complete stop, whether approaching from in front or the rear, when a school bus is stopped at one of the new signs to load or unload children.

He said the new law will be strictly enforced.

MARYLAND MAN CONVICTED IN FATAL MISHAP

Simoon Henry Harris, Cockeysville, Md., was found guilty of involuntary manslaughter by an Adams County jury this morning.

The jury recommended "leniency" and found him innocent of a charge of aggravated assault and battery but recommended that he pay the costs. Edward Hawk, Littlestown, was foreman of the jury which spent more than an hour in its deliberations after having retired to the jury room at 9:50 o'clock this morning.

The two charges grew out of an auto accident at Cross Keys July 4 in which cars operated by Harris and Roy C. Gross, York, collided at the intersection of the Hanover-Carlisle Rd. and Lincoln Highway. Mrs. Harris was fatally injured in the crash. Harris was alleged to have failed to have stopped at the stop sign on the Hanover road.

Zora Man Guilty

Late Tuesday afternoon another jury, sitting in the case of Curtis McCurdy, found the Zora man guilty of pointing and firing a rifle and guilty of a morals charge with two counts.

Later this morning details of the magazine distributing business were being placed before a jury as they heard the charge of larceny of magazines brought against A. E. Nicolet, Baltimore. Nicolet is accused of "lifting" a bundle of magazines delivered by L. E. Smith, Gettysburg, to Yealy's store at McSherrystown and selling the magazines to John A. Shultz at Fairfield.

The jury hearing the case includes Horner Cashman, Littlestown Twp.; John Bechtel, Reading Twp.; Walter Sheely, Germany Twp.; Mrs. Julia A. Myers, Mt. Joy Twp.; Mrs. Virginia Zeigler, Abbotstown; Clyde Andrew, Franklin Twp.; Mrs. Katherine Lower, Franklin Twp.; Mrs. Anna Laura Slaybaugh, New Oxford; Fred Gable, New Oxford; Clarence Weikert, Fairfield R. 1; Ralph Kuntz, Menallen Twp. and Mrs. Fernie Lookenbill, New Oxford.

Impassioned Plea

An impassioned plea for mercy was presented to the jury in the Harris case by the defendant's attorney, Bennett B. Cockey, Towson, Md., in his argument concluding the case for the defense late Tuesday afternoon.

"This man has been punished enough for momentary carelessness," Attorney Cockey declared. "He was a young man with a wife and a two-year-old daughter, enroute for a week-long visit to his parents. He was in no hurry, there was no reckless disregard of life and property. He was on a (Please Turn to Page 3)

AIRMEN PROBE JET BLUNDER WHICH KILLED 6

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP) — Two exhausted airmen slept late today as the Air Force conducted an inquiry into the accident that sent them and six other B-17 crew members plunging into the Gulf of Mexico, the target of a new-type jet fighter.

Sgt. Charles D. Jones, 31, of Meridian, Miss., and A2C Peter R. Rosing, 22, of Ingleside, Ill., the only known survivors of the crash and a 24-hour battle with stormy gulf waters, were treated in the Eglin Air Force Base hospital for exhaustion and exposure.

An intensive Air Force, Navy, and Coast Guard search continued for the other six crew members of the B-17 bomber shot down by accident by an automatically controlled F8D jet fighter.

Col. Arthur R. Debolt, 29, of Columbus, O., pilot of the jet, was being questioned by an Air Force board of inquiry making "an intensive investigation" into the accident.

"Exceptional Officer"

Col. Debolt was project officer for the F8D test project. It was his job to determine if the F8D was suitable for combat. A veteran flyer, Col. Debolt was described by the Air Force as "an exceptional officer."

Before the two survivors were given sedatives after their grueling experience, Jones told newsmen "we never had any doubts that we would be picked up."

He told of accidentally bumping into Rosing while being tossed about on a life raft by high waves in the gulf. He said he reached out and helped Rosing, who was in a Mae West jacket, aboard the raft, which had been dropped by a search plane.

"We knew it was just a question of time. Our only real concern was whether we'd be able to last until we got some good drinking water."

"Didn't Say Much"

"We didn't say much to each other. In fact, I believe the only thing Rosing said to me at all during the night was 'Gosh, but I'd like a drink of fresh water.'"

"When daylight came, it wasn't long before we saw a plane spotting us, and then we were picked up."

After being spotted by an Air Force patrol plane, the two were picked up by the Navy minesweeper Seer, then transferred to an Air Force rescue boat for the 18-mile run into Tyndall Air Force Base. From there they were brought to Eglin.

Others On Bomber

Other crewmen on the crashed bomber were:

Lt. Col. Leo R. Audette, 34, Chicago, Mass.; Maj. Henry V. Ford, 32, Richmond, Va.; Lt. Col. William A. McWhorter, 36, Dewey, Okla.; Maj. Harold S. Lefell, 33, Shawyer Mill, Ga.; Capt. Roger H. Blake, 30, Miami, Fla.; and T. Sgt. Lyle C. Phillips, 31, Brown, Minn.

The Air Force reported it would intensify its aerial search today and continue it as long "as there is any hope for discovering other survivors."

POW CHALLENGE RESISTED WITH MAXIMUM FORCE

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Defiant Red war prisoners tested the nerves of U. N. guards in a series of incidents this month and guards "met every challenge" with maximum force, killing four and injuring 64, the U. S. Eighth Army said today.

Most of the casualties occurred at the main U. N. war prisoner camp on Koje Island off South Korea. It was on Koje last June 10 that American paratroopers broke Red rule over prison pens in a bloody battle in which one American and 40 prisoners were killed and 140 prisoners wounded.

An Eighth Army spokesman summed up disturbances in July and August this way:

"In the last few weeks, prisoners of war and civilian internees in their new 500-men compounds have tried out the nerves of United Nations personnel, making trouble to see what force would be used against them. On every occasion we have used maximum force. We have met every challenge."

The Army began yesterday to disclose the prisoners incidents in piecemeal announcements after a Communist broadcast charged the U. N. with mistreating prisoners in August a year ago.

An Army spokesman said there had been no intent to withhold information and added that the delay was caused by a reorganization of the camp command.

Gen. Nam Il, senior Communist negotiator at the Panmunjom truce talks, made propaganda capital of the POW troubles at today's truce session. He accused the U. N. of "shameless and cowardly slaughter" of captured Reds.

Nam Il's casualty figures—one killed and 54 injured—were lower than those announced by the Eighth Army.

INDIANS BEAT ATHLETICS IN THRILL-PACKED MOUND BATTLE

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports Writer

"Expendable" Bob Feller may have lost some of his mound magic of years gone by but the stout-hearted Cleveland righthander is not ready to act as a sacrificial lamb for anyone.

The former strikeout king was enjoying the last laugh today following one of his better performances of the year in which he teamed up with three other "expendable" teammates to bring a most important victory to the Indians.

The one-time Iowa farm-boy came within two outs of winning a hurling duel from the fabulous Bobby Shantz last night before leaving the mound in the ninth inning with the Indians and Athletics deadlocked at 3-3.

The Indians went on to capture a thrill-packed 6-3 triumph in 11 innings to remain within one game of the American League-leading Yankees, who whipped the St. Louis Browns, 6-3, in New York.

Brissie Gets Win
A two-run triple by castoff Barney McCosky, a Philadelphia disc, snapped the 3-3 deadlock and gave reliever Lou Brissie the win. Brissie, who also once wore the livery of the Athletics, retired all eight men he faced and struck out pinch hitter Keith Thomas and the dangerous Eddie Joost with the bases loaded and one out in the ninth after relieving Feller.

It was a great night for Manager Al Lopez, who not only saw Feller pitch one-hit ball for seven innings, but had the satisfaction of seeing George Strickland, his emergency shortstop, clout a two-run, a scoreless duel between the two homers in the seventh to break up Bobbies. It was only two days ago that Lopez had benched Ray Boone and had given the post to Strickland, a throw-in in a deal with Pittsburgh.

Bums Sweep Series
Brooklyn's run-a-way Dodgers moved a step nearer to the National League flag, sweeping the four-game series in St. Louis with a 4-3 success over the Cardinals. The second-place New York Giants remained 10½ lengths behind the Dodgers, winning a 14-7 slugfest in Pittsburgh. Boston's Braves blanked the Reds in Cincinnati, 2-0, and the Chicago Cubs eked out a 13-inning 3-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Washington moved into fourth place in the American League as Bob Porterfield batted in the only run in winning a 1-0 mound duel from Billy Pierce of the Chicago White Sox. The third-place Boston Red Sox continued to trail the Yankees by 3½ games, vanquishing the Detroit Tigers, 11-3.

Was Rated "Expendable"
According to a Cleveland writer, Feller, assigned to oppose Shantz in place of Mike Garcia, the Cleveland ace, was being sacrificed to the 22-game winning Philadelphia southpaw.

"Feller will be in there tonight because he's expendable," wrote Ed McAuley, the able sports columnist of the Cleveland News. "If the fabulous little Bobby Shantz is to win his 23rd game at the expense of the Indians, it will hurt less if he wins it from Feller."

"We'll see tonight who is expendable or who is being sacrificed," was Feller's reply.

READING WINS LEGION TITLE

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (P) —

Reading's Keystone Juniors edged out Valley View, 7-6 last night to capture their seventh Pennsylvania State American Legion Junior Baseball championship.

The selections were made by 31 major league representatives who viewed the games.

ST. LOUIS TAX SCANDAL UNDER CONGRESS PROBE

By HARRY P. SNYDER

WASHINGTON (P)—Rep. Keating (R-N.Y.) said today he believes a House committee's airing of a 1951 St. Louis grand jury probe of income tax scandals will prove highly beneficial to the nation.

"Because of this committee," Keating told newsmen, "I don't think there will be ever again such an abuse of the public process as went on out there."

He referred to testimony heard yesterday by a judiciary subcommittee to the effect that some Justice Department officials tried to steer the grand jury to a "white-wash" report.

Hear Grand Jurors

The group heard from four members of the grand jury—Henry J. Butler, foreman; Clinton L. Whittemore, deputy foreman; Col. P. Lovely and Mrs. Mary O. Messenger—and Marvin Hopper who was an assistant U. S. attorney at the time.

Yet to be heard is Ellis N. Slack, an acting assistant attorney general now in charge of the department's Tax Division. Slack, who had a hand in guiding the grand jury, is slated for testimony tomorrow. The committee doesn't meet today.

Dist. Atty. Drake Watson's assistants—Hopper and William Costello—actually wrote the report which vindicated the way in which tax matters had been handled under former collector James P. Finnegan.

Judge Takes Hand

The testimony showed that the jurors thought everything was in order, that the report met the approval of the Justice Department and was all right with the judge.

But district Judge George H. Moore wasn't pleased. He was "astonished" and told the jury so. In fact, he re-charged it and pushed it to new efforts. The result: a number of indictments, including one against Finnegan.

Finnegan later was convicted on two charges of misconduct in office. The case is on appeal.

GHS Grid Ticket Boom Expected

Although there have been a good number of reserved seat season tickets sold for the Gettysburg High School football games this fall, the sale is expected to pick up greatly next week and those desiring to take advantage of season tickets are urged to do so as soon as possible.

The sale of such tickets was begun as a convenience to local fans. It has been pointed out that a new South Penn conference ruling permits a home team to postpone a contest when inclement weather prevails and there will be no repetition of staging games under conditions such as prevailed last season when Hershey was played in a downpour of rain, assuring fans of witnessing all games under good conditions.

Season tickets, which sell at $3.50 for the four home games, may be procured by calling Miss Sarah Mickey at the high school office. Single game reserved seats sell at $1.

Today's Talk

QUOTE FAME
Alexander Smith, author of "Dreamthorp," that priceless book of essays "written in the country," once confessed that his only hope for fame was to be "occasionally quoted." That wonderful book was published nearly a hundred years ago and endless quotations have been made from it, and the other writings of this gifted author.
Many a fame rests upon a single sentence that is quoted again and again. Robert Louis Stevenson, Shakespeare, Whitman, Abraham Lincoln, Dr. Johnson, W. H. Hudson, Longfellow, Emerson, and an endless number of the world's great, are quoted time without end. There are books, increasingly in number, that are published with nothing but quotations in them, and they are indeed inspiring books to have in one's home. Great thoughts, like the old soldier, "never die."
Take that friend of Dr. Johnson's, Edwards by name. Upon meeting Johnson after many years, since they were students together at Pembroke College, he addressed Dr. Johnson thus: "You are a philosopher, Dr. Johnson. I have tried to be a philosopher, but I didn't know how. Cheerfulness was always breaking in!" That saying is the only one recorded of this man Edwards.
A big book could be made up of nothing but the wise sayings of Emerson, Stevenson, or Thoreau. In many an anthology you will find quotations from such great thinkers as Montaigne, Aurelius, Goethe, Tolstoy, John Burroughs, Goldsmith, Thomas Gray, and others. Great sayings from the heart came from Abraham Lincoln. His speeches and messages to Congress spark with them.
In these Talks from day to day, you will note that I quote quite freely, because it is my desire that readers may take the suggestion and read more, and learn more about those great ones from whom I quote. The Talk is not written in vain if you who read get a path suggested to a great mind! That great one may turn out to be a valuable friend, as has so often happened with this writer. A mind filled with great thoughts is a happy mind.
Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Living In Wonderment."

MAN AT PEACE
Out of the corner of my eye I saw him as I hurried by. And he was fishing; from the shore
A quarter of a mile or more, His line into the water thrown, At peace with all the world—alone.
From all distinctions he was freed.
Away from color, race or creed, Republican or Democrat, There as a fisherman he sat. And this I knew as past I went, He was for a few hours content.
Some day upon a busy street It's possible that we may meet, But should that happen to our eyes
Much that divides us may arise, The man whose mind from hates was cleared
While fishing, will have disappeared.

TAFT EXPECTED TO ASSIST IKE; NO G.O.P. BREAK

NEW YORK (AP)—Two Republican leaders discounted the possibility of a "serious break" in the party and said they expect Sen. Robert A. Taft will give full support to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's campaign for the presidency.
They were Sen. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire and Rep. Joseph Martin of Massachusetts, house minority leader.
Bridges and Martin conferred with Eisenhower at his newly established New York headquarters in the Hotel Commodore. They said the conference was devoted to the progress and problems of the campaign.
No GOP Break
Convention bitterness between the Taft and Eisenhower camps, they said, is not likely to affect the general's chances of winning.
"I think Taft's people, for the most part, are supporting Eisenhower enthusiastically," Martin said. "I see no break in Republican ranks as far as Eisenhower is concerned. Any break will be negligible."
"It's hardly necessary to ask, but I am certain Sen. Taft will be invited to join the campaign and will do everything he can."
Bridges, who was with Martin, agreed with him.
Bridges and Martin both said they felt the campaign is "on the up grade." Bridges said it is going slowly now but that it will reach a peak at the right time.
Encouraging Outlook
Martin called the outlook "very encouraging." He said he based his opinion on the size of the new Republican registration.
"There are always people who think a campaign is not going well," Martin said. Reporters had asked if he had heard the criticism that Eisenhower's campaign at this point has made little progress.
Both men said they were certain that Eisenhower very soon will begin speaking out on the principal issues of policy.
Martin said he expected Eisenhower to emphasize "about a half a dozen" of the salient issues. He said there was not time enough to take up all of them.

TRUCKERS URGE NEW TAX DATA ON RAIL LINE

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association suggested to local municipalities in the state today they can "collect millions in new tax money by taxing real estate owned by the Pennsylvania Railroad."
The truck association has backed legislation to increase the weight load of trucks from 45,000 to 60,000 pounds. The railroad has opposed it. The 1951 session of the Assembly passed the bill but Gov. John S. Fine vetoed it.
The motor truck association offered a "tax manual" which, it said, can be used to:
"(1) Impose a ton-mile tax on the Pennsylvania Railroad (which it agreed to pay to get its original charter) and which it now favors for those who use roads built with taxpayers' money, as the Pennsylvania Railroad does.
Owens Much Property
"(2) Impose taxes on the real estate of Pennsylvania's right of way, of varying rates—the highest being for property not actually used currently in its direct train operation. The Pennsylvania Railroad is one of the largest real estate speculators in Pennsylvania—it can afford to be since it generally pays no tax on the properties it holds."
The PMTA said local communities can "press from now on to require the Pennsylvania Railroad to pay the taxes in Pennsylvania it pays in other states."

DECIDE TODAY ON PENN STATE LOYALTY CASE

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP)—A decision is due today at the Pennsylvania State College on whether an employee who has refused to take a loyalty oath will be certified as not subversive.
The college's loyalty board of review must decide either to keep Wendell Scott MacRae on his job as publications production manager for the department of public information or give him 60 days dismissal notice.
MacRae told the board at a public hearing last night that he believed Pennsylvania's loyalty oath law is "unconstitutional" and therefore had refused to submit to an oath at the college.
Was In Marines
"As a member of the United States Marine Corps I took the Marine oath to defend the United States and I believe that oath to be binding," MacRae declared.
Administering the oath stemmed from a 1951 state law requiring all commonwealth, county and municipal workers to swear they are not subversives and to uphold the federal and state constitutions.
In the case of state-audited colleges like Penn State certification of employees was left up to the

Only One To Refuse
MacRae was the only Penn State employee refusing to take the oath. However, he was informed he could be certified by demonstrating his loyalty to the state and nation at a hearing before the board of review.
At a hearing, with some 100 persons present, MacRae took the stand that under the United States Constitution it was up to the board to prove him subversive and that he could not be forced to sign a loyalty oath to keep his job.

Quads Become Big Hospital Attention

PORTLAND, Me. (AP)—What happens to a hospital when quadruplets are born there? Since July 7 when Mrs. Elizabeth Pinkham became the mother of three daughters and one son the hospital has received nationwide publicity; had donations to its building fund from as far away as Iowa; its purchasing department has been besieged by salesmen; scores of persons have kept calling to ask if they can see the quads, and the morale of the hospital staff has snapped upward.
Not only that but patients are being visited by friends they didn't even know were their friends — all in hopes of catching a glimpse of the famous babies.
In some areas of South America the praying mantis grows so large that it attacks and eats small frogs.

65 INDICTED IN GOLD SMUGGLING RACKET IN N. Y.

NEW YORK (AP) — A Federal Grand Jury has indicted 65 persons in a $50 million-dollar-a-year gold smuggling racket.

The indictments represent "only the first phase" of the investigation and many more defendants will be named, says Asst. U. S. Atty. Louis I. Kaplan.

U. S. Atty. Myles J. Lane made the half-billion dollar estimate of the smuggling operations as the indictments were reported yesterday.

The indictments declared: "Unless this nefarious trade is stopped, our financial structure will be undermined by the siphoning off of large reserves of our gold supply."

Ostensibly Legal

Kaplan said the alleged racket is based on the ostensibly legal purchase of gold at $35 an ounce by persons claiming to be jewelry manufacturers, and re-sale of the gold at big profits in foreign black markets.

Such black marketing, the indictment said, "is one of the largest concerted schemes against the United States."

The grand jurors declared that regulations for enforcement of U. S. gold laws are ineffective and that federal authorities are "lax in their enforcement."

One of those indicted was Salvatore Solazzo, a former jewelry manufacturer who was sent to prison as a fixer in the recent college basketball scandal.

He was indicted along with Jacob Goldfless, Henry Mayer and Arthur Muller on charges of conspiring to violate the trading with the Enemy Act. If convicted, they could be sentenced up to five years in prison and fines of $10,000.

Face Severe Penalties

If convicted on all counts, the other defendants could be sentenced to penalties of five years and $10,000 fine ranging up to 100 years in prison and $210,000 fine. Twenty-eight of the 65 persons indicted were named publicly by the government. The others are accused in sealed indictments and their identities will not be made public until they are arrested.

Most of those accused are connected with New York City jewelry firms. The gold was smuggled to Belgium and Holland and sold at at least twice the U. S. price, Kaplan said, and the profits were used to buy diamonds which were smuggled into the United States.

REDS STAGE 5 POW RIOTS; 1 COMMY KILLED

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — One Communist prisoner of war was killed, 40 wounded by gunfire, and 12 injured in five riots in U. N. POW camps since Aug. 11, the U. S. Eighth Army said Tuesday.

Disclosure of the incidents came in three separate announcements, several hours apart, after a Communist Peiping radio broadcast had charged that 15 Koreans were killed and 40 wounded in an undesignated U. N. POW camp last year on Aug. 15.

The Eighth Army made no comment on the Communist broadcast. In an incident last Saturday, one Red POW was killed and 12 injured in Enclosure 10 on Kojé Island "when a U. S. rifle company was forced to restore order," the Army report said. It did not explain how the prisoners were injured.

Created Disorder

Two prisoners of war were shot and wounded Aug. 19 on Kojé. The Reds were creating disorder during the evacuation of POWs to make room for hospital patients, the Army said.

Thirty-eight prisoners on Kojé were wounded by small pellets—none seriously—on Aug. 11, the Army said. The guards fired into demonstrating Communist prisoners with riot guns after the prisoners replied to tear gas grenades with a rock barrage.

Two days later in another Kojé compound guards used tear gas in breaking up a military training and marching demonstration.

Then on Aug. 15 guards on Cheju Island marched into prisoner pen 3-A behind a screen of tear gas grenades and forced the prisoners to lower and burn Communist flags.

A spokesman for Maj. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, commander of U. N. POW Camps, said leaders of the Cheju incident were placed in solitary confinement.

REUNION HELD SUNDAY

Harry Raffensperger, Arendtsville, was reelected president at the annual reunion of the John H. Miller family held Sunday afternoon at the Salem Church, Guldens. Others reelected were Roy Weaver, vice president, and Miss Mary E. Dutera, Gettysburg R. 4, secretary-treasurer.

A picnic luncheon was served to about 40 persons who came from Gettysburg and vicinity, Philadelphia, Harrisburg, State College and Baltimore. The Salem Church was established by John H. Miller over a century ago.

FIRES ROCKET BY MISTAKE; BOMBER LOST

(See Mat Below)

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP) — A rocket fired by mistake by an automatically controlled jet fighter sent a B-17 bomber spinning in flames into the Gulf of Mexico Monday. All eight crewmen on the bomber may have been killed.

One crewman who parachuted into the water with his life jacket was caught in 15-foot waves churned up by a sudden rainstorm, and may have been washed under.

An all-night search of the debris-littered waters by ships and planes failed to bring any rescues. The crash scene was about 50 miles south of Panama City.

The rocket was fired by the pilot of an F86D, the Air Force's newest all-weather fighter, which is undergoing operational suitability tests at the air proving ground.

Pilot Grief-Stricken
The Air Force said the pilot, Col. Arthur R. Debolt, 39, of Columbus, O., apparently mistook the B-17 "mother" plane for a radio-controlled drone. The drone was behind.

Col. Debolt, a World War II veteran recalled to active duty, was following about a mile and a half over a mountain and a half overcame with grief at the tragic error. He was unable to explain how it happened.

He saw the hit plainly on his radar screen and figured it was scored on the drone.

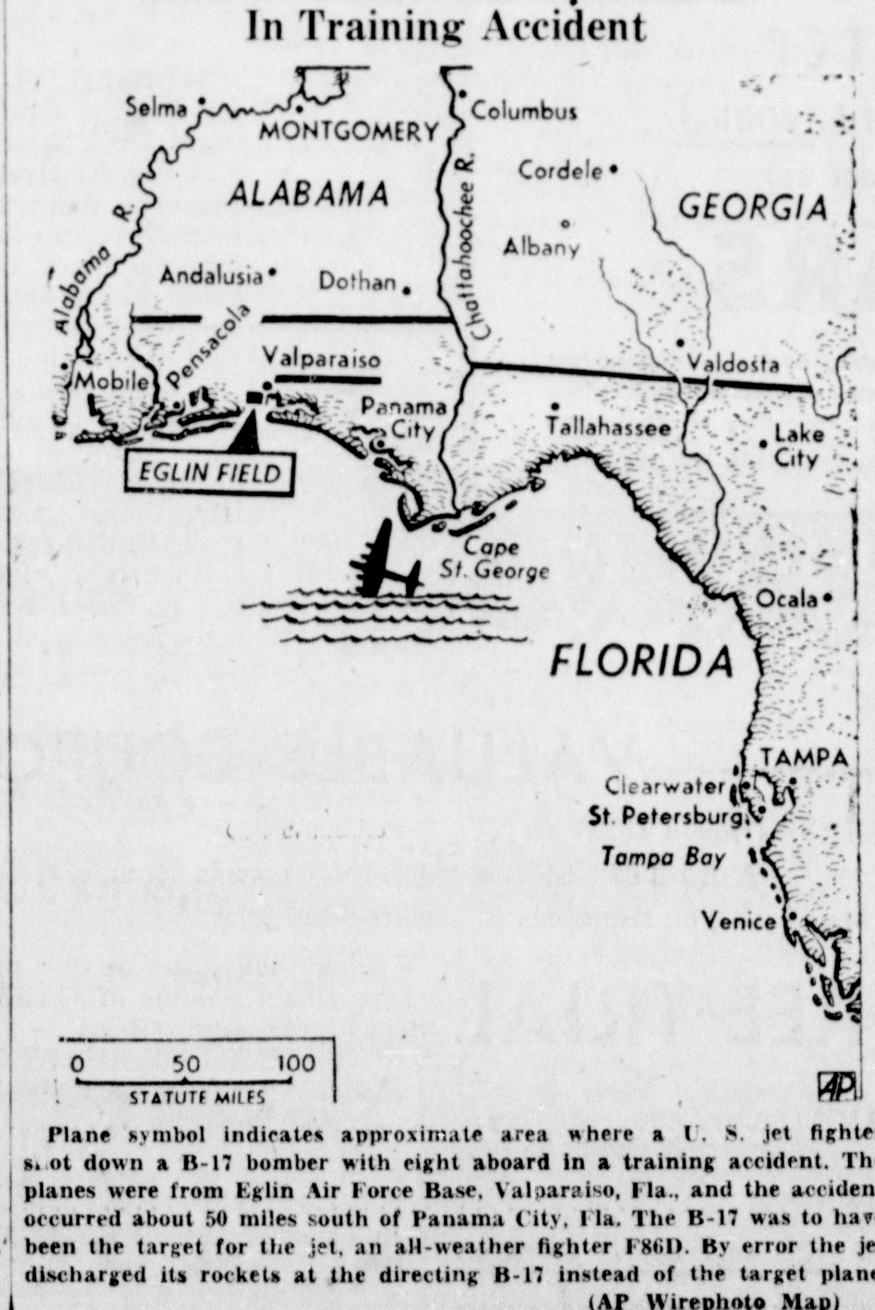

"The first I knew it was a mistake I heard a voice on the radio from one of the other planes accompanying us saying, 'Watch for chutes. He got the wrong plane.'"

Debolt told military interviewers "I just can't believe I hit the wrong plane. I don't know how it happened."

Another B-17 "mother" plane escaped being hit and guided the drone back to the base. Members of the Flying Fortress crew were not identified pending notification of next of kin.

Where Bomber Was Shot Down In Training Accident

Political Leader Found Dead In Car

NEWARK, Del. (AP) — John K. Johnston, 60, vice president of the National Vulcanized Fibre Co. and a prominent sportsman and political leader, was found dead in his car Monday.

Newcastle County Coroner C. Everett Kelley said there was every indication his death was suicide by carbon monoxide poisoning.

Johnston was a member of the State Republican Committee and chairman of the Delaware State Racing Commission.

He is survived by his widow, the former Genevieve Byers of Greensburg, Pa., and two daughters, Mrs. Marie Lake of Newark and Mrs. Genevieve Crawford of Los Angeles.

Bomber Crashes; Seven Are Killed

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Emergency vehicles waited only a mile away as a crippled B-29 crashed and burst into flames at nearby Barksdale Air Force Base. Seven airmen were killed.

The pilot notified the control tower his No. 1 engine was dead and that he was making an emergency landing. Accident vehicles, fire trucks and ambulances were waiting on the runway.

But the craft, a refueling plane dropped a mile short of the runway.

The lone survivor received undetermined injuries. Barksdale officials said he evidently was standing near the doorway and jumped clear after the crash.

Gas Line Explodes; Worker Is Burned

YORK, Pa. (AP) — James Close, 33, was burned severely about the arms, neck and head when a natural gas line burst into flames last night on the Lincoln Highway, four miles east of here.

Close, who was taken to York Hospital, was leaning over the excavation when the accident occurred.

The gas line erupted into flames as workers for the Britton Construction Co. were installing a new line parallel to the highway.

Vibrations from an auger drilling against rock under the highway caused the line to leak, a company official said. The gas was ignited by flames placed on top of the excavation to warn motorists, he added.

Traffic was diverted from the highway for an hour.

DAD HELD IN "MERCY DEATH"

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A retired grocer stabbed his 18-year-old invalid daughter to death with a butcher knife Monday and later explained to police: "I couldn't stand to see her suffer any more."

Police called the slaying of Adela Moskalska a "mercy killing." Det. Charles Sapp said John Moskalski led officers to the body of his daughter in the bathroom of their apartment and said:

"My girl is all right now."

The detective said Moskalski related that while his wife, Mary, was out shopping, he led the girl into the bathroom and plunged the knife twice into her breast.

"Before my baby's birth," Sapp quoted the 57-year-old father, "my wife injured herself by falling against the corner of a counter. The baby was never normal."

Moskalski, the son of a Polish farmer, came to the United States in 1913 and later settled in Newark, N. H. He recently purchased an apartment building here.

Sapp said Moskalski was being held for investigation of murder.

16 Pakistanians Are Killed In Crash

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — A Pakistani air force transport carrying 16 Pakistan government officials crashed Tuesday near Khewra in the Jhelum District. It was believed all aboard were killed.

Authorities said the passenger list included N. Attizuddin, chief of Pakistan special police. The freighter was carrying a group of army and civil officials from Lahore to Quetta.

Khewra lies 200 miles northwest of Lahore near the Kashmir border.

TIGHE WOODS NAMED TO HEAD OFFICE OF O. P. S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman Tuesday named Tighe E. Woods, now the nation's rent controller, to be head of the Office of Price Stabilization.

Woods will succeed Ellis G. Arnall in the price post on Sept. 1. Arnall's resignation, effective on that date, has been in Truman's hands for some time.

Roger L. Putnam, chief of the economic stabilization agencies, made the announcement of Woods' appointment after he, Woods and Arnall had conferred with Truman.

Putnam said the three had come to the White House together so that Truman could bid farewell to the outgoing price stabilizer and to greet the new head of OPS.

Putnam said he has not yet got around to recommending a successor to Woods as rent controller. The rent agency comes under Putnam's direction.

Arnall told reporters that he plans to leave Washington this weekend and will return to Atlanta to resume his private law practice and business. He said he will continue as the president of the Society of Independent Motion Picture Producers.

Arnall said he hopes to issue tomorrow a regulation allowing higher ceiling prices to manufacturers of products using steel, aluminum and copper. Prices of these metals have been raised and Arnall proposes to let the manufacturers pass along the increased cost.

THE STORY OF WURTZILITE*

WURTZILITE is the highest quality and the most valuable of all hydrocarbons. Among hydrocarbons it occupies relatively the same position that the diamond does among carbons. It occurs in nature as a bright, lustrous black ore found in fissure veins which extend to great depths and which outcrop on the mountain side. It is found in commercial quantities only in a small section of Utah. It is composed almost entirely of carbon, hydrogen and oxygen, and is noted particularly for its extreme toughness, elasticity, high tensile strength and resistance to acids, heat and corrosion. It is entirely impervious to water, and is an exceptional non-conductor of electricity.

A Bit Of History About Your Own Adams County

This is the 28th in a series of historical talks given over Radio Station WGET by Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, Adeline Sager professor of history at Gettysburg College, on some of the outstanding events and interesting episodes in the development of Adams County.

The incorporation of the borough of Littlestown on February 23, 1864, marked a milestone in the history of a community whose beginnings go back more than a century before this official act of incorporation.

The settlement which became Littlestown was the focal point of an area of early occupation by some of the pioneer settlers in this county. In 1734 Andrew Schreiber and David Young were the first to take land in this general vicinity, settling in what was then Germany Twp. of Lancaster County, about three miles from the site of the present Littlestown.

This land was in dispute between Maryland and Pennsylvania, but Pennsylvania finally won jurisdiction to the area of Germany Twp., and the authority of Lancaster County was recognized until 1749 when its jurisdiction west of the Susquehanna River was put under that of a new county, the fifth in Pennsylvania, York County.

Important History

In 1800 Germany Twp. was one of those townships of York which were cut off to be included in the new Adams County. The settlement of the German pioneers in Germany Twp., not far from the site of Littlestown, was the oldest permanent settlement in present day Adams County. The Littlestown area is therefore worthy of honor for that reason, and the history of this section is highly important in tracing the history of Adams County.

While not much development of this area took place under the jurisdiction of Lancaster County, that is, before 1749, one act by the Lancaster County Court was of very great importance. That was the ordering by the court in 1736 of the laying out of a road from Wright's Ferry on the Susquehanna westward through the sites of the present York, Hanover and Littlestown, to Frederick, Md.

This was the famous Monocacy Rd. which became the highway of early traffic through southern Pennsylvania to the Monocacy River (hence its name) over which the flow of the westward movement of the population moved into Maryland and Virginia. In the course of the years the land along the road developed into thickly settled and prosperous farmland.

Gets Deed To 31 Acres
In 1760 a settler named Peter Little received a deed of 311 acres along the Monocacy Rd. granted by Pennsylvania on September 18. Five years later this same Peter Little laid out a town on this land, setting off some 50 lots, each with a 66-foot frontage and a depth of 264 feet. A condition attached to each deed passed required the purchaser to build a substantial dwelling house on each lot, within three years from May 1, 1765.

Along the Monocacy Rd. the town street name was given as King St., and crossing it at right angles, along a road leading from Baltimore to Pittsburgh, the town street was given as Queen St. In his deeds Peter Little calls the town Petersburg, and states that he wishes it to be called so forever. Popularly for some time the town was known as "Kleina Stedle" or Littlestown. How long it was officially "Petersburg" I have not been able to learn. However, it was still called that in 1808 when the Gettysburg and Petersburg Turnpike was built. Confusion with the Petersburg (now York Springs) in the northern part of the county caused the name "Littlestown" to be popularly and then officially applied.

Growth Is Slow
Like many other country towns Littlestown's growth was slow for many years. The American Gazetteer for 1797 says merely that Petersburg, in York County, was two miles north of the Maryland line, and contained a Catholic Church and about 80 houses. In 1800 the census reported 250 persons, and in 1810 the number was 287. In 1850 there were 394 residents in the town, and in 1860, 720. Littlestown is the oldest borough in Adams County, and has for many years been second in population.

After just 100 years of existence the benefit of incorporation was realized, and on August 20, 1864, the first borough election was held. The result of this election was as follows: Burgess, W. F. Crouse; councilmen, Noah J. Wickert, John Spangler, David Schwartz, George Stonieser, and Dr. J. S. Kemp. Since that day Littlestown has grown and developed into the busy and prosperous borough of the present day.

One of the reasons why Littlestown was early settled and has had a prosperous career is due to the presence of the town on excellent lines of travel. Reference has already been made to the importance of the Monocacy Rd. which goes through Littlestown as King St. Mention has also been made of the presence of Littlestown on the line of an important road from Baltimore to Pittsburgh.

Build Gettysburg Road
In 1807 the Gettysburg and Petersburg Turnpike Co. was chartered to build an improved road from Gettysburg to Littlestown as a part of a general improvement of the long road from Baltimore to Pittsburgh. In January, 1809, notice for bids to construct the road was published, and the road was completed in 1814. It became one of the most important roads in southern Pennsylvania and Littlestown benefited accordingly.

However, probably the biggest boom to the town came with the building of the Hanover and Littlestown Railroad. The first survey for this railroad was made by J. S. Gitt in November, 1855. A charter was soon thereafter received, and on the 4th of July, 1857, the work of construction was begun at Littlestown. The completion of the road was celebrated just one year later, but the first trains ran three days earlier than the formal celebration, on July 1, 1858. The line ran to Hanover where it joined the Hanover Branch and thus had connection with all important points in the east. The road was later taken over by the Pennsylvania Railroad, and extended to Frederick, Md.

The completion of the railroad brought new life to the town, and it is likely that this gave impetus to the idea of incorporation as a borough six years later.

Historical Significance

Because of its location on important lines of travel, Littlestown has shared in historical occurrences of more than local interest. The first to be mentioned took place in May, 1781, when Washington's army was moving south through Pennsylvania to engage Cornwallis in battle in Virginia.

The diary of an officer of the "Pennsylvania Line" notes that May 26, 1781, these Pennsylvania troops marched from York, under the command of General Anthony Wayne, and encamped 11 miles out on the road to Frederick, or the Monocacy Rd. On the 27th, he says, the drums beat at daylight and the troops took up the line of march at sunrise, and halted near "Peter Little's Town," 14 miles. On the 28th the march was begun through Taneytown, and to the banks of Pipe Creek, 14 miles. This force consisted of 800 effective.

The second to be mentioned, and one which has particular interest because of the birthday on February 22 of the "Father of His Country," relates to a visit of George Washington to Littlestown. During his presidency, Washington made trips, from time to time, between the capital city, which was for the greater part of his two terms in Philadelphia, and his home at Mt. Vernon. For the sake of variety and also that he might become better acquainted with the country, he made these trips by different routes and by different means. In June and July, 1791, he made one of these trips in returning to Philadelphia from Mt. Vernon by way of Frederick, and spent the night of July 1 in Taneytown.

Quotes From Diary
The following is recorded in his diary for July 2, 1791: "Saturday, 2nd. Set out a little after 4 o'clock and in about six miles crossed the line which divides the states of Maryland and Pennsylvania—the trees on which are so grown up that I could not perceive the opening though I kept a lookout for it. Nine miles from Taneytown, Littlestown is past. They are of similar appearance but the latter is more significant than the former. Seven miles farther we came to Hanover."

Of course this was the Monocacy Rd., and Washington was traveling in a handsome chaise drawn by four white horses and was accompanied by his military secretary, Major Jackson. In addition to him and the coachman there were a baggage wagon and three servants in the party.

Thus, through the nearly 200 years of its existence, Littlestown has stood at the crossroads, receiving and in turn giving of the strength, inspiration and service which have altogether given us a distinctive American way of life.

BRIEF FACTS ABOUT LILIES

Bulbs of the beautiful Madonna lily should be planted in late August or early September because this lily must have time to develop a strong rosette of leaves before winter. Bulbs of other hardy lilies should be planted after they reach the market, in October or even as late as early November.

All lilies resent "wet feet." In choosing sites and preparing soils emphasis should be kept on a low water level, especially over winter when bulb rots are likely where water stands high in the soil.

Lilies now available for general use in the home grounds have been domesticated from diverse parts of the world, therefore, their likes and dislikes may vary considerably. In general they all prefer a deeply mellow loam with a gravelly subsoil. Plenty of moisture-holding organic matter is desirable to a liberal depth.

Use of fresh or coarse manure is unwise. One of the most beneficial forms of organic matter to improve soils for lilies is well weathered cattle manure gathered after it is thoroughly dry in a summer pasture. This should be pulverized and worked uniformly through the lower rooting stratum.

Gardeners who maintain compost heaps may in the absence of the recommended weathered cattle manure use finely rotted compost from where fresh, green vegetation has decayed.

It is advisable to prepare soils for lilies at least two or three weeks before planting time and work some bone meal through the top few inches of soil. Then the entire worked-over area should be soaked with water to settle the soil and render the plant foods soluble.

It is important to avoid undrainable "pockets" when preparing sites for lilies. This is a danger that is common where the subsoil is heavy.

Lilies are divided into two main groups as regards depth of planting—base-rooting and stem-rooting. The latter group may be planted deeper than base-rooting sorts. A general rule to observe is this: Cover the bulb tip to a depth three times the bulb's greatest diameter. For example, a bulb that measures two inches through its thickest part should be covered 6 inches deep.

Sharp sand placed under and around each bulb insures greater freedom from standing water and excessive soil dampness and at the same time repels soil insect attacks.

An ideal site for lilies is a location sheltered from direct winds where the soil surface is shaded and the lily blooms reach up into all-day sunshine.

It is doubtful that any group of ornamentals excels lilies in their stately beauty. There is at least a score that should be grown wherever suitable soils and adequate space are available.

Lilies like to be left alone after they are established. That is, they should not be divided or moved until they begin to crowd. Soil fertility can be maintained indefinitely by working some finely pulverized (weathered) cattle manure and a little bone meal into the surrounding soil in March.

There are no merits to cultivation except to control weeds and grass.

Tender early shoots should be protected from unseasonably late spring frosts.

All lilies are remarkable in their immunity to insect attacks. The editor invites all related questions.

GROWING TREES FROM SEED

America needs more forests to protect sloping land, to safeguard our cherished freedom of the press through domestic production of ample supplies of wood pulp, to provide timber for many roles where timber is indispensable, to increase rainfall, to drive back the ominous peril of encroaching deserts which inevitably follow in the wake of this thing we call civilization.

One of the chief excuses against tree planting is the factor of cost. How to obtain seedling trees to increase farm woodland plantings is truly a problem until the individual farmer considers growing his own seedlings. Herein several practical suggestions are necessary.

Most forest trees are easy to grow from seed sown in ordinary garden beds and seedlings moved to their growing sites the second or third year. Seed beds should be located in a well drained site near dwellings in order to reduce dangers of rodents damaging the seed or young plants.

As a general rule tree seeds are planted in early spring. The proper depth of covering may be roughly stated as two to three times the thickness or diameter of the particular seed. Thus, small seeds as those of birch must be covered very shallowly.

Trees which develop long taproots, such as those grown from acorns and nuts in general, are often best started where they are to grow. To prevent rodents from eating planted nuts, each nut should be shielded by a tin can. Remove one end from a can and make two crosscuts at right through the metal of the other end, bending back slightly the four central prongs. Push the open end of the can down over the planted nut. By the time the seedling protrudes through the protective flanges of metal the can will have rusted almost entirely away.

Acorns may be planted in the fall. Black walnuts, butternuts, and shellbark hickorynuts may be stratified over winter and planted in early spring.

Seed of trees which mature in spring and early summer, including most elms, silver and red maples, poplar, river birch, and mulberry, should be sown soon after it is gathered because seed of these species lose their germinating power if stored long.

Black locust seed may be gathered directly from the tree or later after the pods drop. On the other hand, such fragile seeds as those of the sycamore must be gathered quickly after it ripens or winds will carry it away.

Stratification refers to a method of storage over winter that actually permits the seed to "ripen" without danger from excessive cold or heat, also in the proper degree of moisture. One of the better methods for stratifying small seeds is to place a layer of moist sand in the bottom of a box and a layer of seed on this. Repeat alternate layers of sand and seed. Then bury the box in a well drained place and cover with dry vegetation to shed water. It is usually advisable to place a layer of cinders beneath the box to insure freedom from standing water. If the outside of the box is covered with wire screen, ground mice and other rodents will be unable to reach the seed.

The editor invites interested readers to write him for all the additional information they desire in planning to grow trees from seed.

The native plants from which corn was developed never have been determined with any certainty by modern scientists.

Train Resumes Run In South Malaya
KUALA LUMPUR (P)—The northbound mail train service between Singapore and Kuala Lumpur will be resumed after constant Communist guerrilla attacks and derailments caused it to be suspended 20 months ago. At the peak of the attacks night trains were derailed or fired on several times a week.

Freight trains continued to run at night after suspension of the passenger service. The resumption of the night mail service indicates an improvement in the situation on South Malaya, where security forces under High Commissioner, Gen. Gov. STEVENSON RAPS ATTACKERS OF MARSHALL
By DON WHITEHEAD
NEW YORK (P)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson coldly accused the attackers of Gen. George C. Marshall today of hiding under a cloak of patriotism which he called "the last refuge of scoundrels."

The Democratic presidential nominee did not use any names but he left no doubt that one of the main targets of his bitter blast was Republican Sen. Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin—one-time recipient of an American Legion award for Americanism.

McCarthy has accused Marshall, former secretary of state and former secretary of defense, of being party to a plot against the security of his own country.

Stevenson launched his surprise statement in a speech written for the American Legion convention meeting in Madison Square Garden, where GOP presidential nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower spoke only two days ago.

Building Ideas For Home Owners

Another Type Of Ranch House—The Goodyear

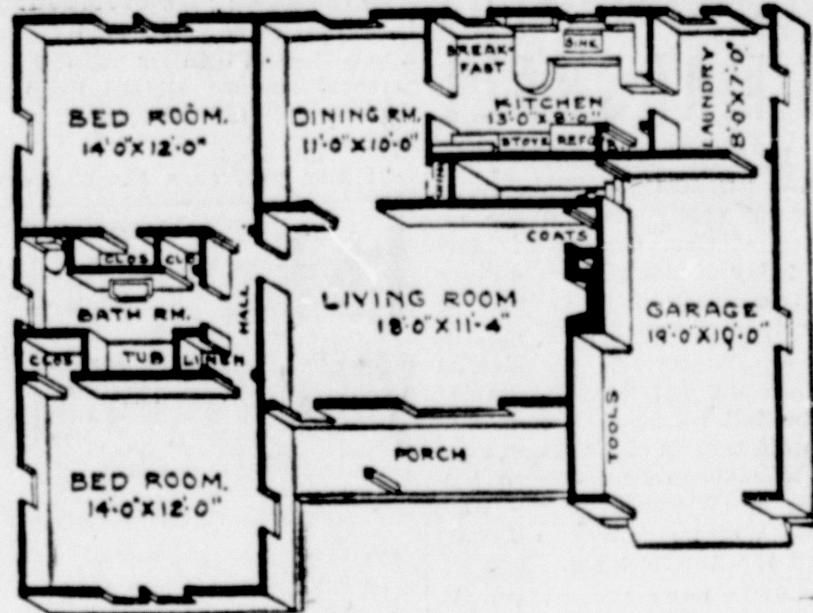

Rooms: Six
Bedrooms: Two
Bathrooms: Six
Cubage: 21,000 ft.
Dimensions: 45' x 34'

Low rambling lines, and a beautifully large picture window are in keeping with the modern tradition. The informal appearance of a ranch house such as "The Goodyear" suits the taste and habits of the average family.

You can see for yourself from the illustration that "The Goodyear" would look equally attractive in just about any neighborhood whether it is located in the city, the suburbs or in the country. Measuring 45'x34', "The Goodyear" would require at least a 60 foot lot.

With a full cement cellar the cubage of the house is 21,000 feet. If you want to save on cellar excavation and construction expenses you could, however, build "The Goodyear" with only a partial basement under the living room, dining room and kitchen.

Shingles or clapboards are recommended as the exterior finish for a house of this type, although a combination of field stone and wood could make a very attractive exterior for "The Goodyear." Landscaping would, of course, have to be simple and low plantings are recommended.

Front Entrance
The front porch provides protection from storm and sun for the visitor to "The Goodyear." If you build this house you'll appreciate this front porch for its decorative value as well as for the protection it will bring.

A door at the left end of the back wall of the porch opens directly into the 18'x11'-4" living room. The large picture window, both an interior and exterior decorative asset, looks out on the porch. A large fireplace is located just about in the center of the right wall, while the coat closet just beyond will make an excellent spot to hang visitor's wraps.

For so spacious a room the living room is very well planned. Although the living room connects with the hallway to the bedrooms at the left and the dining room at the back as well as with the front door no one has to walk directly through the center of the living room to get from one part of the house to another for the doors are very conveniently placed.

The wide expanses of unbroken wall space in the living room will make an easy job of furniture arrangement. And, you'll find more than ample room for convenient placement for your television set.

Through the door at the further end of the left wall in the living room you reach the hall connecting with the two bedrooms and the all-modern bath. Situated as they are in the left wing of the house, both bedrooms are safely away from the noises in the rest of the house.

Measuring 14' x 12', both bedrooms also offer the benefits of cross ventilation.

Spacious Linen Closet
Well lighted by a window in the left wall, the all-modern linen closet is large enough to hold a tub and shower. The large closet in the back wall can be used for just about any storage purpose you may desire. And every housewife is certain to appreciate the spacious linen closet located back to the tub in the bathroom, and opening on the connecting hallway.

Connected with the living room by an open archway, the dining room measures 11' x 10'; there is one large window in the back wall of the room.

The china closet built into the right wall of the room, back to the cellar stairs, will prove its worth many times over as a convenient and safe storage spot for china and glassware.

A door in the right dining room leads to the long narrow kitchen. Measuring 13' x 10' the kitchen is so arranged that every available inch of space is utilized to make meal preparation, and the job of cleaning up afterwards, just as easy as possible.

Bright Breakfast Nook
Lighted by the other window in the back wall of the kitchen and separated from the rest of the room by one of the arms of the counter arrangement, is the breakfast nook. Use bright, gay colors for this cheerful little nook which you'll find an ideal spot for between-meals snacks and lunches for the youngsters, as well as for breakfast for your family. Measuring 8' x 7', the laundry is connected with the kitchen by a door in the right wall. A window in the back wall and another in the right provide plenty of light for this room which is large enough to hold a complete laundry equipment.

The "The Goodyear" the heating plant should be installed under the living room. Since the laundry is on the first floor in this house, the heating plant is the only "must" installation in the basement, and even with only a partial basement you'll have room left for storage, a recreation room, etc.

METAL SUPPLY TO BE BETTER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government took copper and aluminum off its critical list today and indicated an improving metal supply situation may permit a big boost in military and civilian production next year.

The Defense Production Administration forecast a better supply of steel, copper and aluminum in early 1953.

Copper particularly has become more plentiful, partly because not so much of it was used by manufacturers during the steel strike. Greater Arms Production

DPA Administrator Henry M. Fowler reportedly has advised the Defense Department that more materials can be expected by next April, or earlier. While not suggesting increased military production, he has told the military men they can schedule greater arms production if they wish to do so.

DEMS SEEKING GRUNDY DATA ON COMPENSATION

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Democratic platform committee lifted through a host of campaign issues today, highlighted by one involving the name of former Sen. Joseph R. Grundy (R-Pa.).

Chairman Maxwell S. Rosenfeld, Philadelphia senator, said the 19-member committee would pay "close attention" to a statement by James L. McDevitt, president of the AFL-Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, criticizing Grundy as a big obstacle to adequate workmen's compensation benefits.

"If by some trick of fate we can get Mr. Grundy out of the workmen's compensation field, then we could get somewhere," Mc-

Devitt told the committee at a 2½-hour public hearing here yesterday.

Grundy is long a leader in Pennsylvania GOP circles. He founded the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association which sells casualty insurance to employers through a subsidiary.

The AFL chieftain said the 1951 legislature increased maximum weekly payments for workmen's compensation and occupational disease by $5 to $30 instead of the $10 boost asked by the AFL. He attributed the failure to Grundy's influence on legislators.

Rosenfeld said the committee would meet here again Sept. 4 to draft the platform in time for presentation to the Democratic State Committee Sept. 6. The committee will kick off the Pennsylvania campaign with a dinner speech by Stephen A. Mitchell, new Democratic national chairman.

A half dozen organizations, including four labor groups, the Pennsylvania Farm Bureau, the Pennsylvania Medical Society, the Pennsylvania Nurses Association, the State Council for an FEPC and the Teachers Union of Philadelphia, appeared at the hearing yesterday.

Alcoholic Beverage Studies, Inc., submitted a written brief urging a plank calling for end of a current practice of the State Liquor Control Board in marking up prices not only on the basis of actual liquor costs but also on federal taxes.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

In Memoriam
BLUEDAUGH: In sad but loving memory of my husband and father, Harry Bluebaugh, who passed away one year ago, August 26, 1951. Dear husband, you are not forgotten.

Though on earth you are no more, still in memory you are with me. As you always were before. I have only your memory, dear daddy.

To treasure my whole life through but the sweetness will last forever. As I cherish the memory of you. Deep in my heart lies a picture. More precious than silver or gold. It's a picture of my dear daddy. Whose memory will never grow old.

To those who have a father. Treat him with love and care. You will never miss his value. Till you see the old arm chair. Sadly missed by his wife and daughter, Mabel.

RANKIN, Foe OF YANKEES, IS BEATEN IN MISS.

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Rep. John Rankin, the last of Mississippi's old-school white supremacists and denouncer of Yankees, has lost his seat to his former colleague Rep. Thomas Abernethy.

Rankin and Abernethy were opponents because the State Legislature combined their districts last April to eliminate a congressional seat lost in the 1950 census.

Rankin conceded defeat early today after unofficial returns from 341 of the district's 358 precincts in yesterday's state Democratic primary showed:

Abernethy, 26,903.

Rankin, 20,568.

The 49-year-old Abernethy was reserved about deprecating the 70-year-old dean of the Mississippi congressional delegation, who was seeking his 17th term in the House of Representatives.

Abernethy's Is Sorry

Abernethy's victory statement said he had been Rankin's friend during his own 10-year tenure in Congress and "I regret we found ourselves in the same district, thus making our opposition unavoidable."

Rankin, chairman of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, was co-author of the bill creating the Tennessee Valley Authority and author of the measure creating the permanent House Committee on Un-American Activities.

In other races U. S. Sen. John Stennis led in every county to win his bid for re-election against underdog William Davis.

U. S. Reps. John Bell Williams, Arthur Winstead and William Colmer, incumbents, rolled over all opposition to win another term in Congress.

Adopt Foes Ticket

In Texas, Republicans trying to make certain the Lone Star State would go for Dwight D. Eisenhower in November, took the unprecedented step of adopting a full ticket of already-nominated Democrats as their own GOP candidates for state and U. S. congressional offices.

This means that such Democratic candidates as Gov. Allan Shivers for governor, Price Daniel for U. S. senator, and Martin Dies for congressman-at-large, will be on both tickets—unless they ask that their names be withdrawn.

Republicans said they were confident there would be no withdrawals. Only candidate to comment immediately was Daniel, who said he was glad the Republicans "admit the Democrats have chosen the best candidates."

The Nashville (Tenn.) Banner, an independent newspaper in a normally Democratic territory, came out for Eisenhower.

The French humanitarians Montesquieu and Rousseau are credited with advancing the thesis that soldiers who lay down their arms are entitled to life and humane treatment.

Unemployment Is Big Worry To Reds

HONG KONG (AP)—The Chinese Reds have drafted some of their biggest names for a Labor Employment Committee to deal with the growing unemployment problem. The Communists say that 8 million of China's 450 million population are out of work. The figure may be higher.

The Reds say that unemployment is a heritage of the Chinese Nationalist regime or is caused by

Communist production efficiency, the liberation of millions of housewives from their kitchens and the lack of arable land. Red China is seeking to solve the problem by restrictions on the dismissal of workers, wage changes, shorter hours (to eight and 10 hours daily) and government land reclamation, reforestation, water conservation projects and railroad and road

Spitsbergen was visited by the Norse Vikings about 1194. They named it Svalbard, "Land of the Cold Coasts."

SAYS REDS USE U. S. RADIO, TV

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate subcommittee report said today that pro-Communist script writers are spreading "subtle" propaganda over the nation's radio and television airwaves.

"The thing is subtle," the report of the Senate internal security subcommittee quoted script writer Ruth Adams Knight as testifying at closed door hearings.

In question-and-answer testimony quoted by the subcommittee Miss Knight and Weldon E. Kelley denounced Ira Marion, a one-time script writer for Voice of America anti-Communist propaganda broadcasts beamed to Israel. Both swore in private life Marion is an identifiable pro-Communist.

The subcommittee in its own findings, however, treated the Voice broadcasts cautiously. It said simply that members of the Radio Writers Guild, of which Marion is a former president, "write for the Voice of America and the United Nations radio section," and that the guild "is controlled by the pro-Communist faction."

Britain Claims She Has Fastest Jet

LONDON (AP)—Britain says she has the "most effective fighter plane in the world," a triangle-shaped jet called the Gloster Javelin.

An announcement authorized yesterday by the Royal Air Force said the weird-looking plane is faster than sound — 660 miles per hour at sea level — and is "more maneuverable and docile at lower speeds than any fighter since the biplane era."

Hens on U.S. farms laid six billion eggs in May, 1952.

RECESS COAL TALKS

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—Contract negotiations between the United Mine Workers and the hard coal industry began a week's recess today.

The operators and UMW chief-tain John L. Lewis agreed yesterday to move the talks to Washington Sept. 3, two days after the end of the 10-day "memorial" holiday now being observed by miners.
